County Building Spending Plans Bypass Voters

Construction of New Public Facilities Up To Commission, Board

Approval of a public building commission Tuesday by the Madison county board of supervisors paves the way for construction of new county buildings without a referendum on bond issues.

Under a plan proposed previously by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, the building commission could provide for a new jail, a new county administration building, remodeling of the courthouse and provision of parking facilities.

The SIMAPC study, completed in 1965, listed the probable cost of the recommended buildings at about $7 million.

Marshall S. Smith, assistant state's attorney in charge of civil affairs, noted that if $2 million in bonds were floated at 6 1/2 percent over a 20-year period, the cost in the tax rate per $100 assessment would be 4 1/2 cents a year.

He pointed out that the county tax rate, now 35.5 cents, was decreased for this fiscal year by about five cents.

Seven-Member Group
Harold Landolt, county board chairman, is to name a seven-member commission, which may contain seven board members, plus an ex-officio member of five to meet with and advise the commissioners.

The ex-officio group would include the county auditor, state's attorney and three others who, with the commissioners, have experience in building, construction, architecture, engineering or finance.

The site or sites of buildings will be subject to approval of the supervisors, and no bonds can be issued without a lease of the land to the county and approval of the supervisors.

The commission was approved Tuesday by a vote of 25 to 19. It was brought out that the alternatives were: proceeding in this manner, submitting construction projects to a vote of the public, or discarding building plans.

Similar commissions are in operation in St. Clair county and in other Illinois counties of similar size, it was contended.

New Landfill Dispute
An extensive argument ensued early in the session over the advisability of acquiring 200 to 250 acres of land in Collinsville township for a $100,000 in back taxes and penalties is due, for use eventually as a county landfill.

At the end, a motion by Walter Sparks, Chouteau township supervisor, to acquire the property was laid over until the October meeting.

The property was abandoned by the Lumsigi Coal Co. because of the tax delinquency, and Sparks commented that landfill sites may be unavailable in the county in the next five to 10 years.

Gilbert Killinger, Collinsville township supervisor, argued strongly that it would be a (Continued on page 10, col. 8)

Bi-State Given $1.6 Million For New Buses

A U.S. Department of Transportation grant of $1,640,000 has been awarded the Bi-State Development Agency which has been in the purchase of 69 new Deisel transit buses. Sen. Ralph Smith (R-Ill.) announced at Washington, D.C. today.

Senator Smith said he was notified of the grant this morning by Urban Mass Transit Administration which said the new buses will be used to improve the quality of service in the Illinois area of the Bi-State Transit system operation.

Senator Smith said the acquisition of the new buses will serve an area that has "many concentrations of low income persons dispersed among large industrial complexes. The new buses will open up job opportunities in this (Illinois) area and in St. Louis."

The Urban Mass Transit Administration said the grant represents two-thirds of the $2,460,000 total cost of the buses.

The Bi-State agency is to purchase 17 buses of 51 passenger capacity, 40 buses with a capacity of 45 persons, and 12 buses which will carry 32 passengers each. All buses will be equipped with two-way radios.

A previous grant cleared the way for purchase of 52 buses by Bi-State last May, bringing the system's total fleet to 925 buses.

Most Groceries Here Will End Sunday Hours
Most grocery stores in the Granite City area will end Sunday hours, it was learned today from the proprietors.

Those involved in the change include chain stores and Cohen's, Schermer Brothers and Tom-Boy. They had offered non-meat food items on Sundays in recent months but will no longer be open on Sundays.

The Koszyk market was among those which had not established Sunday hours, but will continue to be closed on Sundays.

A few grocery stores in this area are expected to continue opening on Sundays, they reported to-day.

Raise $36 in Drive
A group of 11-to-14-year-olds raised $36.45 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (M.D.A.) in response to a national drive to raise money for the disease.

The group, which included Chastain, Sandra and Sheila Wark, Debbie Wark, Sharon Gray and Kathy O'Beir visited homes in the McNair Addition and the Alhambra Addition in Madison. Nationally, $5,083,385 was raised.

All was done in hope for a temporary reprieve," Kleiberger said in a letter directly to the county representative as a communication by City Clerk Robert Stevens.

Kleiberger said that the time has come when the city must act to establish a thorough maintenance program in which sewers would be cleaned and sealed.

He said the recent replacement of the Cloverview sewer along Lynch Avenue will serve

Storm Injures 3 at Revival Tent

A large tent blown down upon 90 to 100 persons attending a religious revival at 15th and State streets, injuring three persons at 10:20 p.m. Wednesday.

Many other reports of wind storm damage were received. Treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital were Rhonda Perry, three daughter of Fred Perry, East St. Louis, who suffered a large laceration on the head; Charles Latta, 43, of Cahokia; and Mrs. Norma Latta, 67, of East St. Louis.

The girl was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital, St. Louis, following x-rays to the skull and spine. She was taken to the hospital here by Granite City police.

Latta was struck on the back and head by a steel pole and was knocked to the ground. He had abrasions to the head and nose and back pains and was transferred to Centerville Township Hospital.

Mrs. Latta, who was pinned to the ground by the steel pole, suffered a laceration to the right ankle and was released following x-rays.

Search
Police and others searched the debris and found that casualties were limited to the three persons. The revival was being conducted by Rev. Joe Ely, who recently completed a revival in Cahokia.

A tree was broken off at the ground level on 21st street at State street and was removed by the street department to the rights of Columbus parking lot nearby to clear traffic lanes.

A tree was blown through a display window at Joseph's School of Hair Fashion at 21st street and Delmar Avenue.

Only 23-inch rain was recorded at the Chain of Rocks canal locks during last night's windstorm. According to Locks 27 officials, the rain started at 10:15 p.m. and ended at 2 a.m. today.

Minor precipitation also occurred.

current between 11 and 11:45 a.m. Wednesday.

James Aubushon, 20, of 1418 Edwards Road, was hurt when the front canopy at Matthews Chevrolet fell, with bricks and metal hitting him on the back. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 10:45 p.m. Wednesday for contusions to the back and pain in the left shoulder.

$20,000 Damage at Matthews
The wind caused an estimated $20,000 damage at the Matthews agency, 1511 Niedringhaus Avenue, when braces holding a large steel canopy snapped, dropping the canopy onto six used cars parked along the front of the building.

Three of the autos were a total loss. A large window under the canopy was broken.

A tree fell and blocked the alley behind Lee's Auto Repair, 3330 Madison Avenue, Madison. The big plate glass windows were broken by the wind at the Standard service station, Niedringhaus and Madison avenues, and at the Edison Tool & Die Co.

Few Homes Without Power
"The effects of the storm in relation to the severity were gratifying," D. R. Robertson, electrical superintendent of Illinois Power Co., said. There was only a small amount of storm damage to electric company equipment and lines.

Service was disrupted to small groups of homes for short periods of time, Robertson said, and service crews were sent to answer trouble calls. There were three instances where areas of six to eight homes were without power for a short period of time.

Only two homes were without power for a short period of time.

Revised Appropriation Totals $1.8 Millions; Final Draft Adopted

A revised permanent budget of $1,824,388 for 1971-72 was adopted by the school board in a special meeting Tuesday night, cutting a projected deficit by $377,233.

Final acceptance of the new appropriation followed a public hearing in which William F. Hoelscher, executive secretary of the Taxpayers Expenditure Survey Committee, suggested that the Venice school district effect strict economies to avoid a mounting financial problem over the next few years.

John Pier, superintendent of schools, announced he had cut the permanent appropriation of the educational fund to $1,414,723 from the total of $1,791,955 which was extended in the tentative budget Tuesday night.

Appropriations for other school district funds were unchanged from those of the tentative budget — $279,017 in the building fund, $48,390 in the bond and interest fund, $62,452 in the transportation fund, and $19,735 in the municipal retirement fund.

Rise in Revenue
The new figures of the permanent appropriation approved by the board Tuesday night also showed a minor increase in anticipated revenue. The new total was fixed at $1,588,178, compared with $1,582,428 projected in the tentative budget.

Pier said the finally approved budget draft projects total expenditures of $1,824,388, with an (Continued on page 16, col. 8)

Return to Jobs Pending Action on $50 Per Month Wage Dispute

Fourteen striking city hall employees, whose walkout in a wage dispute has delayed approval of claims and payrolls, went back to work today pending a special council meeting tonight in an effort to resolve the issue.

Decision to return to their jobs was reached in a meeting yesterday afternoon between the striking employees, Mayor Donald Partney and James Coffay, business representative of Local 98 of the Building Service Employees Union, concerning demands for a $50 monthly wage increase.

Tonight's special council session was called by Mayor Partney following yesterday's conference to obtain council approval of a proposal involving the holiday pay for labor day claimed by the 14 workers who were on strike at the time.

The holiday pay issue prevented a settlement of the strike in Tuesday night's regular council session, postponed from Monday night because of the holiday.

Two Causes Held
The council spent two hours on the salary issue in Tuesday's session, taking two meetings recesses for caucuses to discuss proposals which then were returned to the union members who were in the audience. The city hall employees then retired from the council to discuss the issue with their representatives.

The issue came before the council shortly after the meeting opened when City Clerk Robert Stevens presented a letter from Coffay asking the council to replace the old negotiating committee with a new committee, or that the council enter negotiations in the dispute.

The striking employees have been demanding a $50 monthly pay increase with $35 of it to be granted for the first six months of the current fiscal year and $15 for the last six months.

In later discussion, Coffay told the council that the last offer the union had received was for $20 the first six months and a like amount for the last six months.

Demand Immediate Action
In response to Coffay's request, Alderman Gerald Parmley moved that the council as a whole take up the salary issue immediately, in the Tuesday night meeting. Several aldermen urged a delay, but insisted that the council take immediate action. Following a 15-minute caucus, council members presented a proposal for $30 for the first six months and $20 for the last six months.

The union members retired, returning ten minutes later to repeat their demand for a $35-a-month arrangement.

The council retired for another caucus and agreed to grant the $35-a-month request, but insisted that the council strike not be paid for the holiday, nor for the days they were on strike. The strike began at 4:30 p.m. last Friday. The offices of City Treasurer E. R. Rich and City Clerk Robert Stevens were closed Tuesday and Wednesday because of the walkout.

As a result, no claim listings were prepared for approval by the city council Tuesday night. The payroll also was not prepared and consequently not approved by the council, although the aldermen did vote authorization to the Finance Committee to approve the payroll when it is drawn. The city payroll for the first two weeks of September is payable on Sept. 15.

Want Holiday Pay
After the second caucus, union members returned to the council meeting and Coffay told the aldermen the striking workers would want the holiday pay for the day not worked, but insisted on "holiday pay" for Labor Day.

That is what Coffay said, after explaining the workers' stand.

"That is it," responded several council members. The council proceeded with other business. The strike continued Wednesday morning.

Partney called a meeting of the striking workers yesterday afternoon, with U. S. Conciliator Robert Mire sitting on an (Continued on page 10, col. 1)

Posters by GC Students Entered in State Contest

Posters prepared by Granite City students will be among those judged this month in the Chicago area as part of the Illinois State "Hire the Handicapped" poster contest. Sponsors of the event, the Illinois Disabled American Veterans and the Illinois State Employment Service, invited high school and junior high school students in Granite City to prepare posters urging businessmen to hire handicapped workers and to submit them for the contest. The posters were collected by Eugene Aiasi, supervisor of art education for the Granite City school district and were judged by Andrew Gitchoff of the Disabled American Veterans, and William Hoelcher, manager of the Manufacturers' Association of the Tri-Cities. Winners were chosen locally on the basis of originality, artistic arrangement and neatness and the winning posters were sent to Chicago for the state contest.

Announcement of winners of the state contest will be made during national "Hire the Handicapped Week," October 4-10. Local posters will compete with those in the downtown Illinois area only. Other categories are for Chicago entries and suburban Chicago entries. In the local high school division, Keith Radey, 1704 Edison avenue, won first place; Leslie Kinkel, 2821 Forrest avenue, second; Emily Anderson, 2375 Westchester drive, third, and honorable mention was given to Pam Britton, Rural Route One. Junior high school winners were: Tom Burns, 4410 Kirkpatrick Homes, first place; Denise Tucker, 3005 Wayne avenue, second; Kim Warmack, 204 Buxton avenue, third, and honorable mention. All junior high winners were from Coalidge Junior high school. First place winners in each division received $15; second place, $10; third place, $5, and honorable mention $3.

'Gypsy' Starts Three Performances Tonight

In a modified arena stage setting, which permits the audience to enjoy refreshments as they view the show, the East Bank Players present their second production, "Gypsy," a musical fable based on the memoirs of Gypsy Rose Lee, at 8 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday at the VFW Hall, 21st street and Washington avenue. Tickets for the three performances, costing $2 for adults and $1 for students, may be purchased from cast members, or at the door immediately before showtime.

The Quad-City theatrical company's initial production, "Guys and Dolls," was presented earlier this year at the Granite City Elks Club before capacity audiences. Mrs. Mill Hoelscher, the musical's director, notes that "Gypsy" typifies one of the more frightening aspects of show business — the bullying, ruthless stage mother who drives her two daughters into a stage career, regardless of their own wishes, and keeps them at it until one becomes a star.

Backstage Life
The story covers a dreary trip across the length and breadth of the land, visiting seamy backstages of tank town theatres during the late 1920's and early 1930's, when vaudeville was dying to the birth of burlesque. "Gypsy" starts in Seattle when Rose (the mother) pushes her two daughters into Uncle Jocko's Kiddie Show. Rose convinces an act with star-spangled banners, a dancing cow (with Louise, the young Gypsy at the rear end) and Baby June (later to emerge as Broadway Actress June Haver) as the star of a screaming newsway act.

The group plays Dallas, Omaha, Akron and Buffalo; and along the way Rose meets Herb, a theatrical manager who becomes a father of sorts toward the youthful entertainers and Rose's boy friend.

Rose scrimps and saves by serving a constant diet of chow mein, sleeping her charges six to a dingy hotel room and making garments from hotel blankets. The two girls begin to grow up, but the quality of the garish act fails to improve. June runs away and marries Tulsa, one of the boys from the show, and Louise wishes Rose would settle down and marry Herb. But after June leaves Rose renews her enthusiasm and sets out to make Louise a star.

Starts Burlesque
The troupe reaches the bottom, a burlesque house in Wichita, Kan., where three strippers suggest Louise take up the art in "a more elegant, ladylike fashion," in contrast to their brassy "You Gotta Get a Gimmick" routine.

Louise finally breaks away on her own and becomes Gypsy Rose Lee. The show concludes with brighter plans for happier days ahead for Rose and her daughter — Gypsy Rose Lee.

New equipment has been purchased to make "Gypsy" better than ever. Players officials advise, A complete sound system and two wireless body microphones for leading characters have been added, allowing the sound to flow all-around, enabling the audience to feel "even more part of the performance." Stage equipment also includes new spotlights and flood lights, operated from a panel board designed by Ray Paradotti, well-known St. Louis singer-actor and the show's assistant director. The new lighting board will be executed by Bob Anderson.

A complete portable stage, installed for increased visibility, was designed and built by George Hurcoy and movable sets designed by Norma Mendoza, permit swift backdrop changes and 13 different changes of setting.

Cast Members
Heading the cast of "Gypsy" are Miss Gail Hamilton who will portray Rose, the mother, and Henry Lamb as Herb. Several persons handle dual roles in the show.

Others in the cast, in order of appearance, are: Dr. Leo Roman as "Uncle Jocko"; Stanley Coleman as "George" and "Patsy"; Billy Hurcoy, "Tippy Tappy Tommy"; Bonnie Luebert, "Balloon Girl"; Ruth Lamb and Myrna McKee, "stage mothers"; Sue Hogan, "Baby Louise"; Gretchen Hoelscher, "Baby June"; Dennis Hogan, "Pep"; Bob Anderson, "Weber"; Bev Henderson, "Louise"; Anita Gasparovic, "June"; Mark Gifford, "Tulsa"; Lance Hamilton, "Yonkers"; Mark Senak, "Angie"; Bill Harris, "L.A."; Bill Hoelscher, "Kringelein"; George Hurcoy, "Mr. Goldstein"; Peggy Flach, "Miss Cratchitt"; Ted Ellerman, "Cigar"; Peggy Esenpreis, "Tessie Tura"; Barbara Rineberg, "Maecop"; Ruth Lamb, "Electra"; Bill Harris, "Phil"; John Payne, "Monsieur Bourgeois Cochon"; Anita Rozycki, "Card Girl."

Today's criminal is mobile, Maeras noted. "Each police department keeps its own records. As a result, a fellow arrested for shoplifting in Alton today conceivably could be arrested in Collinsville tomorrow and in Granite City the day after for the same offense.

"But when each case comes trial, it is treated as a first offense, because of the lack of knowledge of the offense in the neighboring community."

Pooling of Knowledge
"By pooling our knowledge, a central police records bureau could make such necessary information immediately available to each of the 16 separate police departments in the county," Maeras said.

"I believe that the sheriff's office should take the initiative in setting up a central records system. I want to make it plain that I am not suggesting we should eliminate local police departments. Each department could keep its own set of records, too."

"But lack of a centralized records center makes it easy for a professional criminal to appear to be only a first offender, by not compiling a complete county record on him, the Democratic nominee said."

Maeras, 44, is completing a term as county treasurer to which he was elected in 1966. Under Illinois law, a county treasurer cannot succeed himself.

Dedication Plans For Shelbyville Reservoir Told

Plans are nearing completion for a huge day-long celebration Saturday marking the dedication of the $86 million federal reservoir on the Kaskaskia river at Shelbyville.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, who will serve as official host for the dedication, already has proclaimed the day as "Shelbyville Reservoir Day" in Illinois.

The lake is now forming behind the imposing concrete and earthen dam after the spillway gates were lowered Aug. 1 to start backing up water from the Kaskaskia river.

The new federal reservoir will cover 11,000 acres at normal stage and will back water up the river valley for 20 miles. The lake will provide 230 miles of beautifully wooded shoreline with camping and recreational facilities.

Shelbyville residents are making elaborate plans for an estimated 50,000 visitors on "Dedication Day." These plans include a large parade at 9:30 a.m. with entertainment until the dedication that afternoon.

William Richardson, president of the Kaskaskia Valley Association, is serving as chairman of the general coordinating committee in charge of preparations for the celebration. The activities are being coordinated through the St. Louis office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and the governors office in Springfield.

Fourteen area high school bands already have accepted invitations to march in the parade Saturday morning and more are expected to join the list.

James Finks, chairman of the parade committee, estimates over 200 units involving nearly 2000 persons will take part in the parade—including about 25 especially built floats.

Grapes Grown in GC Awarded Blue Ribbon
Glen R. Lilly, 2149 Robert avenue, won the "Blue Ribbon" award for his exhibit of Concord grapes at the recent DuQuoin State Fair, it was announced last week.

The local resident, who captured a third-place award at the same fair in 1969, cultivated the prize-winning grapes in the rear yard of his home.

Punt, Pass and Kick Competition Slated

Punt, Pass and Kick competition in the Quad-City area will be under way today. The place and time will be announced Sept. 15.

Ford dealers in conjunction with the National Football League sponsor the PP & K competition, which is open to all grade and junior high school boys, aged eight through 13, in the United States.

Registration in the Quad-City area will be at the B. E. Hohlt Agency, 1837 Madison avenue.

Each entrant must be prepared to furnish legal proof of his age, such as a birth certificate. Seven-year-olds who will reach their eighth birthday by Jan. 24, 1971, may compete as eight-year-olds. A 13-year-old who becomes 14 on or before Jan. 24, 1971 will not be eligible.

There is no cost, nor is a purchase required of any boy, parent or sponsor to enter or compete. Boys must register on official forms at the local Ford agency and are being urged to register now.

Six Levels Scheduled

There will be six levels of competition; local, zone, district, area, division and national. Local winners will be determined by the scores achieved at local dealer-sponsored contests.

Each boy will compete individually in three categories: punting, passing and kicking (using a kicking tee). No special footwear may be worn for local competition; only ordinary street shoes or sneakers will be permitted.

Boys eight, nine and 10 will use a junior-size football and boys 11, 12 and 13 will compete with a regulation-size football.

Dick Yates is the director of the punt, pass and kick competition here.

Sports Schedule Cards

Folding schedule cards for fall and winter athletic activities are available to the general public, it was announced by Joe Fedora, Granite City school district athletic director. Those wishing a schedule may pick it up at the board of education office, 20th and Adams streets, on weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

YMCA AQUATIC COACHES Fred McCollegan and Ann Bickhaus set up a display this week in the YMCA trophy case to encourage boys and girls to join the local 'Y' swimming team. Final Football Season For Midwestern Loop

This is Madison's final season as a member of the Midwestern athletic conference and the Trojans should go out a winner, although they will face some rugged competition.

With the conference dissolving effective in 1971-72, MHS as things stand now will have no league affiliation, instead playing a completely independent schedule.

This undesirable situation was forced on Madison when schools, beginning with Roxana, began withdrawing from the conference. A new conference was initiated by Wood River; however, Madison was not invited to join. When MHS made application to the new conference, school authorities were notified that according to the constitution of the new league, there was no room for Madison, as the conference already had its quota of schools. According to Madison high school Principal Richard Brown, other conferences are being looked into, but for the 1971-72 year it seems probable that the Trojans will be playing independent ball. This will mean more travel, including out-of-state travel, such as to the St. Louis county area.

In the meantime, practice drills are progressing for the conference grid campaign, during which the Trojans will face Highland, Dupe and Roxana on the MHS gridiron and will visit Triad and Bethalto. Other foes will be O'Fallon, Ill., to be visited for the inaugural game at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 18, and Maplewood, Mo., Washington high school in the Peoria area and Mater Dei of Brees.

80 'Y' Swimmers; Form 2 Groups

Over 80 boy and girl swimmers are expected to join the "Tidal Waves" this season and represent the local YMCA in several dual meets and 33 AAU meets between November and April, Coach Fred McCollegan said today.

In order to accommodate such a large team for practice, McCollegan said he will divide the swimmers into A and B teams.

The B team will practice on Sunday afternoons, Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:15 p.m. and Saturdays at 5 p.m. The A team will practice Monday through Friday mornings at 6 o'clock Mondays and Wednesdays at 7:15 p.m. and Saturdays at 6 p.m.

Miss Ann Bickhaus, a GCHS senior, has been named assistant coach. This will be her first coaching experience after swimming competitively for the local "Y" and YMCA's in East St. Louis and Webster Groves and for the Paddlers team.

She has won several state competitions and at one time held two state records. She also has competed in two national meets.

McCollegan pointed out that the dual meets this year will all be held within this metropolitan region to avoid long trips on winter roads.

The parents of the swimmers will meet Sept. 16 at the "Y." The parents' group helps conduct the meets and helps provide uniforms and equipment. Last year, the parents installed a pace clock in the pool and they intend to install a record board this year.

McCollegan is hopeful that more youngsters will join the team. Any boy or girl age seven to 19 is welcome.

Practices are scheduled to begin Sept. 14 or as soon thereafter as the "Y" pool is ready for use.

Football Preview at GCHS Stadium Tonight

GCHS grid fans will be able to get a preview of things to come tonight.

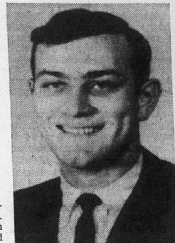

The offensive Warrior team will play the defensive Warrior squad in a game-time scrimmage, Kickoff time at the field will be at 7:30 and all Warrior fans are welcome.

Head Coach Wayne Williams would make no prediction as to the outcome of the offensive vs. defensive battle but is hoping to get a relatively even contest.

The defense, with six of the 11 starting players returning, may have an edge. The offensive team has only two of the five starting 11 returning.

The first scheduled varsity game is Saturday, Sept. 19, with Stephen Decatur high school at Decatur.

BASKETBALL COUGARS

GA R. Gayland Lightfoot, a mainstay on Coach Fred Wehking's 1969-70 State Fair Community College Road Runners' basketball team at Sedalia, Mo., the past two seasons, has enrolled at SIU-SW, Jim Dudley, the Cougars' varsity basketball coach, reports.

Lightfoot, 19, played high school basketball at Bolivar, Mo. The 6-2, 205-pound forward holds the single game free throw record at State Fair and averaged 12 points per game over two seasons; he is an accounting major.

Plan Youth Bowling

Howland, 3550 N. Main road, will begin a program of youth bowling Saturday. Boys and girls 12 and under will bowl between 9 and 11 a.m. Those 13 and over will bowl at 1 p.m. Instructors and coaches will be on hand.

While Howe is fourth with 16 behind Fred Faucett's 19 points. SIU-SW will open its 1970 season against the University of Illinois Chicago Circle in the Windy City Sept. 19.

Frank Modrosic, displaying his catch, said he caught the perch in the Mississippi at the north end of the Chain of Rocks canal, using a spinning rod and a four-pound-test line. Modrosic said he is checking records, but believes the previous record for a white perch was slightly more than seven pounds.

The local serviceman was assigned to Vietnam the last week in July. He has been stationed in the vicinity of Hill 235, since Aug. 3, with Echo Company, 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines, First Marine Division.
Marine West attended Granite City High school and was employed at Park 'N Eat restaurant prior to enlisting in the U.S. Marine Corps one year ago next Thursday, Sept. 17.
The wounded serviceman has a younger brother, Marine Pvt. David B. West, 18, who volunteered for duty with the Corps on Aug. 6. Concern for his brother, presently undergoing basic training at Camp Pendleton, Calif., was expressed by Marine Kenneth West in the

At California Race
Two area race fans were among the thousands to attend the first 500-mile race for "Indy" type cars at Ontario, Calif. Charles Stanfill, 2540 Edison avenue, and his brother Earl, Florissant, Mo., flew to California to attend the race and returned Tuesday morning. In Ontario they were house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Abbas Salahi, who lived in Florissant for several years after coming to the U. S. from India.

Utz is working furiously to get his backup car, number 88, ready for the race, while number 69 is waiting for him at the race. Last Friday he commented that it had not been performing well recently, but when the checkered flag was dropped he was in second place, only seconds behind winner Chuck Amati of Greenfield, Tenn.

Amati will be joining a formidable lineup trying to keep both Spalding and Utz at the back of the pack.

The tentative lineup also includes Dick Sutcliffe of Kansas City, Kan., now second in the International Motor Contests Association, Jim Moughan, feature winner two weeks ago and Bobby Jones.

Spalding also is expected to compete in the hobby-stock competition. Joining him will be Bob Stanton of Alton, last week's hobby feature winner, and George Gruenfelder of Madison, Louis Janzen of Alton and possibly Richard Clark of St. Louis.

Time trials will start at 7:30 p.m. with the first heats scheduled for 8:30.

street doesn't mean a hoar to us—we have only one hospital," Steve Basarich said he "sympathizes with the hospital, but this is a profit-making organization. Others paid for vacating streets and the hospital also should pay."

On a roll call on a motion to suspend the rules for final passage vote, with 14 members present, "no" votes were cast by Whitmer, Basarich, Dallas and Parmley for a vote of 10 in favor and four against. A minimum vote of 11 was required.

Mayor Parmley, who is allowed under statute to ballot on an issue that is decided by his vote, favored the ordinance, permitting it to carry 11 to 4. Parmley then walked out of the meeting.

On Nann's motion for final passage of the ordinance, Whitmer, Dallas and Basarich voted "no," with 10 favorable votes cast. Parmley again voted for the ordinance to permit the minimum of 11 votes.

Meet Ford's new Pinto. The little carefree car.

PINTO Ford

If you have the questions, Pinto has the answers.

Q. What do you mean, "carefree"? A. Pinto's designed to free you from car cares, big and little. Cares about high prices and big gas bills. Cares about parking. Cares about service and reliability. Power and stability. Quiet and roominess.

Q. You say Pinto is little. How little? A. Pinto is only 8 inches longer than VW. But its turning circle is actually a little less, so Pinto can slip easily into tight parking spaces.

Q. And inside? A. Pinto gives you more interior roominess overall than Volkswagen. And getting in and out is easier because Pinto's doors are a good half-foot wider.

Q. What about price? A. Pinto is priced like the little economy imports, too.

Q. What about power? A. Pinto delivers 75 horsepower and averages over 25 miles per gallon in simulated city/suburban driving. The engine is front-mounted and exceptionally quiet for a car in this class. Pinto is the only American economy car equipped with a 4-speed, fully synchronized transmission at no extra cost.

Q. What else is standard equipment? A. High Back bucket seats. Direct-Aire ventilation with upper-level fresh air outlets. Heater/defroster with 3-speed fan. Two-speed electric windshield wipers. Electric windshield washers. Your choice of 15 exterior colors. And more.

Q. How about optional extras? A. Pinto offers a 100-hp engine and 3-speed automatic transmission. Front disc brakes. Even built-in air conditioning. Tinted glass. Vinyl roof. "Flipper" rear quarter windows. Fold-down rear seat. Bumper guards and side molding with vinyl inserts to protect the paint. More than most imports offer—at prices economy-car buyers can afford.

Q. Pinto's engine has already logged 50 million owner-driven miles. And the strength of some of Pinto's parts makes ordinary little economy cars look puny by comparison. Parts like the starter motor, ball joints, rear wheel bearings are heavy duty. Craftsmanship? Pinto is the only American car with hand-matched transmission gears.

Q. What's Pinto like out on the road? A. Pinto has a wider stance than any economy import, for better stability in turns and gusty crosswinds. For more road feel, and more precise handling, Pinto has rack & pinion steering—like Porsche and Jaguar—something you won't find on any other American car.

Q. Tell me about service. A. Pinto is so simple you can do much of the maintenance yourself, if you like. The Owner's Manual shows you how. And Pinto's free Do-It-Yourself Key helps you perform minor service functions.

Q. Suppose I don't service Pinto myself? A. You still save when your Ford Dealer does it. For example, Pinto needs an oil change half as often as the leading import. And a chassis lube only one-sixth as often.

Q. Sounds great—where can I test-drive Pinto? A. Your nearest Ford Dealer. And if you have any more questions, he can answer them.

Best idea for safety: Buckle up.

For Ford, Pass & Kick Competition. Boys, 8-13, register at your nearest participating Ford Dealer for Saturday, September 28.

Late Corn Will Have Less Yield Than Early Crop

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County Farm Advisor

Corn blight continues to be of great concern to Madison county farmers as they plan for harvest, corn marketing, corn drying, storage, livestock feeding and adjustments to make in next year's crop production program.

Farm business and family financial planning also must be re-evaluated by the many farm families who will have reduced income. A small reduction in gross farm income has a relatively greater effect on net farm income because so many of the production expenses are fixed costs.

The blight caused less damage last week to corn in Madison county than it caused two and three weeks ago. Corn showed little change last week as a result of blight.

Corn yield reductions will vary from one field to another. Corn planted late looks like it will suffer more in yield than the early planted corn.

Affects Leaves, Shanks
Most of the yield loss so far is from premature killing of the corn leaves by the blight. We see very little rot on the ears, but such damage may increase.

Shanks which attach corn ears to stalks are weakened. We can expect greater harvest losses in the severely infected fields.

Specialists feel it is now time to forget about leaf damage and to pay attention to ears and shanks. Rain and wind or delayed harvest may increase serious ear drop as a result of shank rot.

Farmers are urged to start harvesting when grain moisture reaches 30% in fields with obvious signs of ear and shank rot. They should dry the grain to 13% moisture or lower. If they find no signs of ear or shank rot, they must start harvesting when moisture drops to 25% and dry the grain to 13% moisture.

Respirators Being Worn
The blight fungus is not toxic. University of Illinois Agricultural Engineer Frank Andrews suggests farmers wear a respirator—not a gas mask—when combining, drying or handling grain that contains mold.

Hoeke Heads Chapter Of Management Science

Robert S. Hoeke, newly elected chairman of the St. Louis Gateway chapter of the Institute of Management Science, has announced the membership of the group's executive committee.

Hoeke, chairman of the faculty of management science at SIU-SW, said Michael W. Curran will serve as vice-chairman. He is the principal consultant with Decisions Sciences Corp., St. Louis.

Named as secretary was Robert E. Matland, an assistant professor of management at the University of Missouri at St. Louis. Treasurer is David J. Morrissey, an industrial engineer with Olin Mathieson, East Alton.

George S. Little, sampling statistician for Southwestern Bell Telephone, St. Louis, is the immediate past chairman.

Jerry D. Kirksey, a consultant on management advisory services for Price Waterhouse & Co., St. Louis, has been named program chairman. Heading the membership committee will be Robert J. Newett of Ralston Purina Co., St. Louis. Les H. Krone, an independent management consultant, St. Louis, is the group's national correspondent with the headquarters in New York.

Andrew says, "We've always made the suggestion whenever farmers work at any dusty job. A respirator will keep a lot of dirt out of your lungs."

Farmers continue to ask about feeding blight-damaged corn to livestock. It is all right to feed silage made from blight-damaged corn; such silage may be less palatable. Mixing dry hay, molasses, or ground dry corn with the silage may be used to increase palatability.

FAMILY REUNITED
A family reunion was held Labor Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lockhart Jr. in New Douglas, Ill.

Attending from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Durrel Barnes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liememann and son, Kathy Gode, Mr. and Mrs. William Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lockhart sr., Mr. and Mrs. Gale Lockhart and family.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lockhart and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Bestorff and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley Gobbie and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tassaro and son, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilkinson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kovaly, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Rietz, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Daelin and daughter, Elva Short, Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Homan and family, Mrs. Margaret Oliver and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nelson.

The day was spent at games and the youngsters went on a hayride. A pot luck dinner was enjoyed.

Seed Corn Supply Short
Agronomists tell there will be a short supply of seed corn of the blight resistant hybrids next year. But there should be an adequate supply for 1972 of the varieties that have good tolerance to leaf blight.

The danger from blighted corn will be from secondary mold infections if such infections should occur, and not from the fungus that causes corn blight.

U. of I. specialists will discuss the corn blight situation at agronomy day Thursday, Sept. 10, at the South Agronomy Farm in Urbana. Tours of the farm start each 10 minutes from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Agronomy research results will be shown at 16 different tour stops, and everyone is invited.

Area farmers are being invited to stop and compare soybean varieties in test plots at the Homer Bruns farm on Sand Prairie road in Nauvoo township. Varieties in the plots are Corsoy, Provax, Amsoy, Benson, Wayne, Galland, Cutler Clark 63, and a blend of Cutler and Clark 63.

A roadside sign identifies the location of the plots, and a sign identifies each variety. Yield data will be obtained at harvest time to get yield comparisons.

Members of the Madison county Agriculture Extension Council at their organization meeting for the new year started July 1 elected Jim Winer, Highland, chairman; George Willard, Edwardsville, vice-chairman; and Joseph G. Geiger, Jr., Highland, secretary.

Other council members are Vernon Becker and Henry Zoeller of Morris, Willard Blase, Worden; Delmar Grofendel, Marine; Robert Henschen, Alhambra; Elmer Klomke, New Douglas; Louis Gionko and Dale Schanuel of Granite City; Leslie Malan, Highland and William H. Brue, Wilfred.

Council members are appointed by Dr. John B. Clair, director of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service in Illinois.

A member may serve on the council a maximum of four years after which he must be re-elected to the council at least one year before eligible for reappointment. Those who completed four years of service are William Keller, Collinsville and Carl Eberhart, Edwardsville.

Educational Programs
County extension councils plan and direct important county educational programs conducted as part of the off-campus program of the U. of I. College of Agriculture. One function of the council is to cooperate with extension personnel in planning the extension educational program in agriculture, home economics, and related subjects including 4-H club work.

A few corn fields in the Marine, New Douglas and Highland areas showed moderate infestations of second generation corn borer last week. Some fields north of Highland needed treatment for borer control.

Moderate yield losses from borer damage will occur in some fields not treated; however, only a few fields have enough borers to pay to spray. Entomologists say yield loss is one percent when borers average one per stalk, two percent from two borers per stalk, and so on. So three or four borers per stalk is the point at which you are about trading dollars for treatment.

If you check your field for corn borer, look for the tiny white worms with a black head. They may be found in the leaf sheath, in the tassel, and occasionally in the ear of corn. If larvae are not embedded in the stalk, they can be controlled with an insecticide.

The session, Parney told the group that he would not favor payment of the holiday pay if there is a city ordinance, as some officials contend, providing that employees receive holiday pay when they work the day before and the day after a holiday.

The mayor said he is not certain there is such an ordinance, but was checking into the matter today.

He said if such ordinance exists, there will be no holiday pay.

Display Houses Burglarized, 12 Crimes Reported

Twelve cases of burglary and theft, including break-ins at three new display homes, were reported to Quad-City area police this week.

Three display homes in the Dale Construction Co. development on Briarhaven drive were entered by burglars who used a crowbar to open front doors during the weekend, it was reported Tuesday.

Taken from two of them were kitchen cabinets valued at $450 each, marble vanity tops valued at $75 each and bi-fold closet doors valued at $30 each. Nothing was missing from the third home, but damage to the three doors was estimated at $20 each.

S. J. Carter, Granite City Army Depot, reported at 2 p.m. Wednesday that a trumpet in a case, valued at $200, was stolen from the locker room at Prather Junior high school.

An orange riding lawn mower with a fan seat was stolen from the garage at the home of Joseph Mangiaracine, 2836 Dogwood drive, after 10 p.m. Tuesday, he reported at 8:25 a.m. Wednesday. The garage is under construction.

Burglars took 24 electrodes from the machine shop of Laclede Steel in Madison between 11 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday, it was reported at 10:55 a.m. Wednesday.

A 1964 auto reported stolen by Donald Guenther, Desoto, Mo., from 2436 Wilson avenue at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday was recovered later at East 24th and August streets.

A four-track tape recorder valued at $480 and a stereo set valued at $200 were stolen in a burglary at the home of Lora Scarborough, 2800 Indiana avenue, during the day, she reported at 4:45 p.m. Tuesday. All drawers and closets were ransacked. There was no sign of forced entry.

Richard Crouch, Bardwell, Ky., reported at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday that someone entered his 1968 pickup truck while it was parked at 2832 East 25th street and took his savings account book from the glove compartment. It was on the Bank of Belleville.

A battery was stolen from a 1964 auto parked at the rear of the B. E. Holt agency used car lot during the Labor Day weekend, it was reported Tuesday.

STATE TROOPERS DONATE. A check for $300 is presented by State Troopers Lodge 41, Fraternal Order of Police, to Ainaid Temple of East St. Louis for tickets to the Shrine Circus for underprivileged children, and for the travel fund of burn victims. Left to right, William Mauser and Michael Donovan, both trustees of Lodge 41; Potentate Edward Maag; John Oldani Jr., state sergeant at arms of Lodge 41, and Cleo Angelloff, Granite City, of Lodge 41 and a Shriner. State Troopers raised the money through sponsorship of a dance earlier this year.

MORE ABOUT County

dumping ground for Missouri interests, that the property is hazardous and that Paul Meyer, the county's agent for delinquent taxes, would receive a $45,000 fee while the county received nothing.

It was suggested that Meyer would accept $25,000, and Smith insisted that this figure would be a bargain price. A state geological survey has been made, and Harry Briggs, Nameoki township supervisor, suggested that the state mine department investigate the hazards, including smoldering slag heaps and drainage.

Study Centralized Purchasing
The board agreed to a proposal to appoint a special committee to study formation of a centralized purchasing office for the county government, following reports that no bids were received on construction advertisements on two minor projects.

Neison Hagnauer, Granite City township supervisor and finance committee chairman, announced that his committee will start work on the next county governmental budget on Monday, and that County Auditor John Kraynak is to advise officeholders and committee heads of their schedules.

Publication of 195 copies of the annual county school directory at a low bid cost of $1271 was voted down on the recommendation of S. A. Griffin of Wood River, a teacher who said a less expensive form of printing with fewer copies would suffice.

12 Fall Exam

It was announced that on Sept. 3, twelve applicants took an examination for the new position of county supervisor, assessments, and that none passed it.

Another exam for the position, which pays a minimum of $13,000 a year, will be held at a date to be set later by the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, which said other counties have experienced similar difficulties.

The board authorized a traffic speed study for the Arlington Heights road.

School Scout Night at St. Joseph's Saturday

Parents and boys interested in finding out about St. Joseph's troop are to attend Saturday. The event will begin with a 5:30 p.m. family Mass, followed by a 6:15 p.m. stew supper at $1 per family. At 7:30 p.m. a court of honor where awards will be presented and an 8:30 p.m. welcoming period.

A baby-sitting service and activities for children of non-scout-age will be provided so that interested parents will be able to get all their questions answered.

Home Notes

Unused Items Rob You Of Valuable Storage Space

Most people find it difficult to part with possessions. As a result, unwanted items are often stored simply because they are "too good" to discard. And such stored items rob you of needed storage space.

It's a good idea to periodically review every storage area—chest, drawer, closet—and remove unused items. If an item has not been used in a year's time and you have no definite plan to use it, get rid of it.

When reviewing items by area or room, you'll be wise to remove everything from the storage area and replace only items you use.

Before you discard an unused item, ask yourself why the item is unused. It may not be used for a number of reasons. You have not learned to use it; it may need to be repaired; it does not work effectively; it is hard to store; it is difficult to use; family needs have changed since the item was bought.

Rotarians Hear of Girl Scout Campout

Three Senior Girl Scouts from troops in the River Bluffs Council described their experiences at the recent National Girl Scout Camp-Out at Elkhorn, Wis., for Granite City Rotarians. The girls were guests at the Rotary Club's weekly luncheon meeting, held Tuesday at the YMCA.

Mrs. Nancy Hodge, Susie Barker and Phyllis Bartsch, all members of area Senior Girl Scout troops, were introduced by Norman Reinhardt, program chairman.

The trio was among eight girls selected to represent the River Bluffs Council at the national camporee. They reported the camping region was nicknamed "Panorama City" in line with a program that required the scouts to select their own city officials, including mayor and aldermen, designate camp areas as shopping centers, residential zones and administrative buildings.

Each group attending the camporee prepared a specific activity, with the local contingent choosing to become a "back pack patrol" for the duration of their camp stay.

During a "share experiences" event, patrol members displayed their specialty for other groups, whose activities ranged from aquatics to community services.

"Attending the national camp-out was a wonderful opportunity to become acquainted with Girl Scouts from many different parts of the country," the girls related to Rotary club members. They noted that more than 400 council representatives were registered and many foreign delegates were present.

Enroute home from Wisconsin, the local girls were met in Chicago by parents of Girl Scouts from that city, who hosted the River Bluffs Council delegates for a two-day, sightseeing holiday in the metropolitan Chicago area.

About 40 Rotarians attended Tuesday's luncheon, with John Polson, president, conducting a short business meeting and welcoming the guests.

Two From Area Enter Air Force Academy

Two Quad-City area youths, Peter R. Schocker and Arthur G. Ratkewicz, are among cadets who have entered the U. S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Schocker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Schocker, 2206 Waterman avenue, and Ratkewicz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony N. Ratkewicz, 1808 Fifth street, Madison.

The cadets entered the class of 1974 after completing seven weeks of basic training, including field training at a simulated front-line combat base near the academy's physical conditioning and survival instruction.

This is the largest class ever to enter the 16-year-old academy and brings the current enrollment to more than 4000.

The two completed a 10-month course of instruction at the Academy Preparatory School before their appointment.

The cadets now begin a four-year course of study leading to an Air Force commission and a bachelor of science degree with an academic major in one of 27 fields of interest provided in the curriculum.

Madison Rotary Club To Hold Benefit Sale

The Madison Rotary club made plans at Wednesday's luncheon to hold an old-fashioned bake sale in November to raise money for purchase of a new piano for the Madison recreation center.

Wives of the members will make cookies, cakes and pies which will be sold at the Schermer Brothers market. The exact date has not yet been set.

Two guests were present along with 20 club members — G. R. Clarke, retired plant superintendent of the Lucille Steel Co., and Rev. Donald Bogue of the First Methodist Church of Madison.

Guest speaker next week will be Louis A. Lewright, manager of the local F. W. Woolworth store.

MORE ABOUT Cut Venice

anticipated revenue set at $1,588,172.

This presents a potential deficit of $236,160 for the current school year, which ends next June 30.

The tentative budget posted for public inspection in early August projected a deficit of $613,383. The educational fund appropriation at that time was fixed at the $1,783,713 figure, which applied against estimated income of $1,272,283 left a prospective deficit of $511,490 in the educational fund alone.

The final budget draft, as it did in the tentative bill, shows a building fund deficit of $10,822.

Building Fund Costs

Expenditures in the building fund are anticipated at $279,017, unchanged from the tentative budget, while revenue for the fund is projected at $168,165.

Only other account in which borrowing will be necessary to meet all projected expenditures is the transportation district, in which expenditures are estimated at $62,452 and revenue is estimated at $38,828.

Hoelscher told the board that the Taxpayers Expenditure Survey Committee had supported a special referendum for a 40-cent increase in the district's educational fund tax rate last October because the district at that time was facing severe financial problems. He pointed out that the reduction of the projected deficit improved the district's outlook, but that a program of strict economy will be necessary to avoid a constantly increasing deficit in the next few years.

Will Cooperate

Board members said they were anxious to cooperate with the tax collector and the public in balancing the budget. The district was confronted this year with increased teachers salaries due to negotiation of a new working agreement for teachers and other school district employees.

On the newly adopted budget, the district will add a new levy totalling $655,426, per announced.

The new levy will call for an increase of $79,470 in taxes for the educational fund and $31,610 for the building fund. A levy grant of $32,641 will be made for the year. "Meeting transportation fund, $10,000 in the working cash fund, $25,000 for the retirement fund, $18,425 for the prevention and safety, $14,740 for special education and $3500 for junior college tuition.

Seedless Watermelons Are A Fact

Seedless watermelons can and are being grown by gardeners with a desire for the best in watermelon eating. Usually, only a few seed coats persist in the seed cavity and these are soft and edible.

Seedless watermelons have been developed after years of research. Seed is obtained by crossing tetraploid melon with a diploid melon. This results in seeds that are triploid and these produce a sterile-hybrid plant. Cross pollination from other plants is needed for melon formation, but seeds do not form.

Fruit markets seldom stock seedless melons because commercial growers are not growing them. Special care is needed to start the plants as seed is expensive. Culture is the same as with other varieties, but harvesting is more difficult.

The signs usually used in picking melons are not fool-proof. For this reason, some green melons are sometimes harvested. If you have seedless melons, check for a brown curl, or tendril, a yellow bottom and a glossy surface.

If you haven't tried to grow a seedless watermelon before, remember to give it a try next year. The fruit is worth the effort.

When to Pick Apples
Harvest time is near for apples. When normal, unblemished fruits begin to fall, it's time to start picking. However, other factors should also be considered in picking.

Apples should be picked just before they reach optimum eating quality. This is when the flesh color changes from green to yellowish green as noticed on the bottom end of the fruit. Red varieties should have good skin color.

The stem should remain on the apple and not on the tree. At the right picking time, this is easy, as the stem will separate from the tree when a slight twist or roll is made while picking the fruit.

Handle apples with care to avoid bruising. If fruits are to be stored, select firm, unbruised specimens that are free of insect and disease blemishes. Apples must be kept cool if they are to keep. A refrigerator is the best storage location. Place the apples in poly bag to prevent dehydration. If a basement or cave is used, place the apples in a sturdy box and store in a cool, dark area.

Build Up Garden Soil
Most garden soils can use additional organic matter for improved tilth. You can do this easily by sowing a green-manure crop in the fall. Now is the time to do this.

Rye, ryegrass and oats are crops most commonly used in fall seedings. One of these should be seeded in the vacant or unplanted areas of the garden.

Seeding rates per 1000 square feet are three pounds of rye, one-half pound of ryegrass, or one and one-half pounds of oats. Broadcast the seed and work it into the soil with a cultivator or rototator. Shallow incorporation is all that is needed.

For extra growth of the green-manure crop, apply five pounds of 33-0-0 fertilizer per 1000 square feet before planting. Water as needed if the fall season is dry.

This crop may be plowed under in late October, or it can be left for early spring plowing. Where a winter cover crop is needed to prevent erosion, wait till spring.

Migrating Spiders
Cool nights and warm days cause spiders, crickets and assorted pests to migrate to buildings and basements.

Dry weather usually starts a mass movement to find more protection and a warm winter home.

Foundation sprays using chlordane will effectively prevent crawling insects from moving in for the winter. Special care around doors, windows and outdoor lights will be extra safety. Use liquid chlordane and follow directions on the bottle. Spray the foundation just to the point of runoff. Concentrate on areas near dense shrubs, ground covers and around doors.

Include a 24 inch band of soil alongside the foundation. Saturate cracks and crevices in the foundation and in concrete slabs about the foundation.

One spray in early fall will persist until early winter. Once the spray dries it is harmless to pets and children.

Toadstools in Lawn
Late summer rains will start a variety of weeds and sometimes a lot of toadstools.

Fairy Ring is clusters of small brown toadstools arranged in circles or rings. Dark green grass often creates a green ring with the toadstools. Successive crops appear after each rain. There is no way to prevent the toadstools, but the dark green ring is easily hidden by immediately fertilizing the lawn. Experts say the small brown toadstools are edible and have good flavor.

Inky Caps are clusters of gray or off-white toadstools which soon turn black and disolve. Dense clumps appear near dying trees, and buried stumps after every heavy rain. Usually the toadstools appear in the late afternoon and mature (begin to disolve) the following morning.

Buried wood is the food source of this fungus. No easy way is known of destroying the fungus unless you remove the wood. Wild mushroom fanciers report the several varieties of "Inky Caps" are all edible and worth sampling.

Cleaning Out Sprayer
Weed killers like 2-D can be neutralized in your sprayer with household ammonia and water. When your garden sprayer is drafted to kill weeds in your lawn you can remove the weed killer before you spray your garden and flowers.

Carefully rinse the sprayer and pump a tankful of clean water through the sprayer. Refill the sprayer with water and add 2 tablespoons of household ammonia per gallon of water. Spray out the ammonia and water mixture to clean out the spray hose and nozzle.

Final Bloodmobile Depot Visit Friday
The final bloodmobile visit to the Granite City Army Depot is set for tomorrow, it was reported at the September meeting of the Red Cross Tri-City chapter board Tuesday at the First Granite City National Bank. The Depot is being inactivated. The board discussed the Red Cross booth at the United Fun Fair Oct. 3-4 and sale of tickets for the fair. Forrest Cockrell retired from the board due to his retirement as YMCA associate executive director.

The chapter was represented at a week-long Red Cross leadership training course in Kalamazoo, Mich., last month by Donna Kaye White, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel White, 2417a Benton street, a GCHS junior, and Brenda Broadway, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Broadway, 1002 Grand avenue, Madison, a MHS junior.

Treasurer Carl Thornberry reviewed finances and Mrs. Ruby Oberbeck, executive secretary, reported 245 transactions as part of service to military families in August. Chairman William F. Winter presided.

FROM THE CHIEF OF STAFF. Mrs. Nona D. Fuller, 1 Miami court, receives a certificate and a $375 check, presented by the Army chief of staff, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, at ceremonies at the U. S. Army Mobility Equipment Command, St. Louis. Mrs. Fuller, employed in the Command's Directorate of Materiel Management, submitted a suggestion which saved the government $7000 in the first year of its application.

Her suggestion was on shipments by the U. S. government of items to foreign customers. It established a numeric data processing code which resulted in automated billing, replacing manual billing in cases where specific shipping and unloading instructions were required.

Home Notes

By Mrs. Catherine R. Mauck
Madison County Home Adviser,
Home Economics Extension
University of Illinois

College Furnishings Should Be Durable, Simple

Most college freshmen make the same mistake—arriving at school overloaded with equipment and supplies.

A national college advisory service says it is better to arrive under-equipped and add needed extras later.

Campus living quarters range from the traditional room-fortwo to apartment style suites. All can be decorated to suit individual tastes. Needless crowding, however, smothering any feeling of spaciousness a student might achieve through decorating.

The materials are well dried. Materials such as cattails or grass spikes that are likely to shatter should be shellacked to preserve their natural form.

With a wide selection of materials at hand, you can have many hours of enjoyment next winter arranging colorful, attractive bouquets for your home.

Tips on Use and Care of Kitchen Cutlery

Proper use and care of your kitchen cutlery can mean better performance.

Follow these cutlery do's and don'ts:

- Use your knives for their designed purposes. Don't cut bone, metal, string or paper.
- Protect cutting edges by sharpening knives separately, preferably in a wooden rack.
- Always cut on a wood cutting board to reduce need for sharpening.
- Wash, rinse, and dry knives immediately following use. Never soak them.
- Unless specified by the manufacturer, don't wash knives in the dishwasher.
- Never heat knife blades. Heat destroys the temper of the steel.
- Correct use and care will keep your knives sharp. If sharpening is required, using a stone first and finishing with a steel is recommended. Use mechanical sharpeners cautiously. The metal of the sharpener must be harder than the blade of the knife.

Selecting Kitchen Carpet

Although carpeted kitchens were practically unheard of a few years ago, their current popularity continues.

Carpeting a kitchen may have value for its comfort underfoot, its noise-absorbing qualities and for fashion reasons.

But before you carpet your kitchen, you should consider the properties of the carpet fiber, how the carpet is constructed and the care that is required. Remember that spot and spills are common in the kitchen.

Most carpets suggested for kitchens are made of olefin, acrylic or nylon fibers. Olefin fibers are more stain-resistant than are acrylic or nylon. Only nylons may be difficult to remove from nylon, but waterborne stains, such as tea or coffee, will usually come off easily. However, hot coffee or other hot liquids spilled on nylon carpet may leave a permanent stain.

Acrylic, nylon or olefin fibers will melt from the spark of a lighted cigarette. Hot bacon grease spilled on olefin can melt the fiber, leaving a damaged area. However, a damaged area can be cut out and if carpet is repaired properly, the patch will not show.

For kitchen installations carpet made by tufting is recommended. It should have either a primary backing of polypropylene that doesn't mildew or a dense foam-back that keeps spilled liquids from seeping through to the floor. Liquids trapped under a carpet may develop disagreeable odors or attract household insects.

Carpet that has a low, dense pile tends to keep gritty soil on the surface, making cleaning easier. The felt-like carpet suggested for kitchens is made by a needlepunched process, and such carpet is usually made of olefin fiber.

Carpet may be bone-laid for easy cleaning. When it is soiled, you can roll it up, take it outside, shampoo it and dry it in the sun. But drying may take longer than you expect. Other kitchen carpet is cemented to the floor. Foam-backed carpet in tile shapes with adhesive backing is planned for easy installation.

Vacuuming carpet may seem easier to some homemakers than cleaning a resilient floor. However, a kitchen carpet will need to be shampooed regularly to keep it clean. Only immediate attention with the right methods to remove spots and spills will avoid permanent staining. Satisfaction from carpet will depend on how well it cleans and how well it looks after it is used.

How to Prevent Clinging in Washable Garments

Cling caused by static electricity can be reduced by using fabric softeners that serve as antistatic agents in the final rinse water.

BUSY AUTUMN FOR WEBSTER PARENTS

The September meeting of the Webster school PTA executive board was held at the school Tuesday evening to complete arrangements for a pot luck dinner. The president, Mrs. Vincent Scrump, was in charge and welcomed several new officers.

Plans were made for a PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21, preceded by a "welcome back" pot luck dinner at 6 p.m., honoring faculty members, who are to bring their husbands and wives.

Mrs. Allene Moore, hospitality chairman, read a letter on the annual PTA pot luck supper at Grigsby junior high school Sept. 24 at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Scrump explained duties of the officers and distributed literature on "help aids" that can be obtained through the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Paul Ling, acting treasurer, reviewed the use of dues at national and local levels.

The secretary, Mrs. Eva Arbogast, read the planned menu for the coming dinner. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Donna Jones, hospitality chairman, were appointed to supervise the annual "kindergarten tea" Sept. 15. Kindergarten teachers and the school nurse will be there to answer questions concerning the program.

A traveling attendance banner and a cash class award were discussed. Mrs. Wilma Andrews, membership chairman, volunteered to make the banner.

The president announced that due to a holiday Oct. 12, the meeting that month has been set for Oct. 19.

Mrs. Doris Stotz, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Moore will be in charge of the annual "spook carnival" Oct. 15. Mrs. Ling as chairman of the fish fry and Clyde Lee, principal, in charge of ticket sales.

Suggestions were made for a baby sitting service and a questionnaire on members' ideas on a more constructive association. Mrs. Scrump urged attendance by parents, especially parents of preschoolers and kindergarten pupils, to meet the faculty. Others present were Eugene Miller, Boy Scout representative, and Mrs. Cathy Ling and Mrs. Marcia Buster, room mother chairman.

The next executive board meeting will be Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

WILSON PTA PLANS MEETING ON SEPT. 24

The Wilson school PTA executive board has begun its new year by discussing various programs and projects. President is Tom Tietloff.

REVIVAL MEETING HIT BY STORM: Last night's windstorm injured persons attending religious services at 15th and State streets and lifted the tent from its moorings. The tent material is in the foreground, and folding chairs in use at the revival are shown in disarray in the background.

Defrosting Refrigerators

Not Self-Cleaning

Frost-free and automatic defrosting refrigerators require minimum care. But self-defrosting does not mean that they are self-cleaning.

Clean up spilled foods and liquids immediately to prevent them from leaving marks and to keep food odors from developing. Clean the entire refrigerator periodically. An occasional wash-down with a solution of baking soda and warm water—two tablespoons to a quart of water—followed by a clear rinse and dry-off helps to keep inside walls and door linings clean and sweet-smelling.

And remember to check the frost collection pan. Because food odors pass off in the defrosting process, this pan needs periodic washing to keep it clean and odor-free.

Items You Need For Your Laundry Center

An efficient laundry center needs more than a washer and a dryer. When planning your laundry center, include a sink for pre-laundry treatments, adequate cabinet space for storing laundry supplies, storage space for accumulated soiled clothing and for unironed clean clothing and a table or counter space for folding clothes as you remove them from the dryer. And, of course, don't forget a good ironing board and iron. And speaking of irons, give some time and thought to selecting your next iron. A well-chosen iron will help make pressing and ironing an easier task.

Irons for general home use vary in weight from about 2½ to 4 pounds. Travel irons, however—smaller and more compact—weigh about 1½ pounds. Some travel irons are designed for use either at home or abroad on electric current that differs from ours.

Before you begin to shop, decide on the type of iron that best meets your needs—dry-iron, dry-steam or dry-steam-spray.

And look for an iron with the wide range of heat settings. The heat regulating control should be located where you can see and use it easily—but where you will not bump it accidentally. Test the iron for balance when you hold it in an ironing position. It should not be bulky or clumsy to handle. Make sure the iron remains stable when turned up on the heelrest.

Test various handle designs for comfort. Check to see that your thumb fits into the thumb rest.

Note the location of the cord attachment. Some cords attach at the back of the iron, some to the left and some on the right side. Some irons have changeable cord attachments. Cord location will matter if both right and left-handed members of the family use the iron.

For ease in ironing under and around buttons, look for tapered slots in each side of the soleplate near the tip of the iron or for low tapered sides.

Check the sole plate. Some manufacturers use aluminum because of its good heat-conducting properties. But you can scratch aluminum by ironing over pins and snags. Sometimes a layer of stainless steel prevents stains and scratches. Non-stick coatings eliminate stain buildup or discoloration. But over pins may scratch the non-stick coatings.

If you're selecting a dry-steam iron or a dry-steam-spray iron, look for an even distribution of steam openings—through the tips to two-thirds of the way back—in the sole plate. There should be no openings at the back because dry heat should follow the steam for pressing action.

Check for durable construction and a tight, smooth fit between parts. The heat setting should contain a temperature gauge that accommodates many types of fabrics.

Buy from a dealer who assumes responsibility for the quality of his merchandise. Reliable manufacturers guarantee their merchandise against defects in material and workmanship.

Always make sure your iron—or any electrical appliance you buy—has the Underwriters Laboratory Seal of Approval. This seal assures you that your appliance meets electrical safety standards.

Selecting Kitchen Cutlery

Consider the three basic features of design, construction and materials when selecting your kitchen cutlery.

Hold the knife to judge how its handle feels and fits. You should be able to get a comfortable but firm grip on the handle. A good knife will balance in your hand so that neither hand feels weighted down.

A knife used at the dining table, such as a carver, should be attractive in design. If the man of the house will be doing the carving, ask him to select the cutlery.

A well-constructed knife has a long-lasting blade and a tight handle. You will notice that many knives have the metal of the blade extending either fully or partially through the handle. Rivets usually secure the handle to this extension, or tang.

A knife with either the full tang with these rivets or the half tang with two rivets is recommended.

Look for handles that resist moisture, grease and heat. Plastic impregnated woods are excellent since they embody all three qualities. Hardwoods, such as hickory, beech, rosewood or walnut, are also used. But hardwood handles may be subject to heat damage.

A smoothed and polished finish is preferable to a paint or varnish finish for hardwood knife handles. Other materials include metal, nylon, resin and ebonite—a hard black rubber.

Select knives made from high-carbon steel or high-carbon stainless steel. They take and keep a sharp edge best. Vamsteel and stainless steel are also used for cutting blades and will take and carry a fairly sharp edge.

Chrome-plated blades are attractive, but they will rust or tarnish if scratches expose the steel. In addition, salt and fruit juice have a deteriorating effect on the chrome-plated blades.

You can expect excellent performance for many years from well-chosen cutlery—provided it is properly cared for.

Blanch Vegetables Before Freezing

Blanching vegetables—scalding in boiling water—is an important step in preparing your garden produce for the freezer.

Blanch all vegetables except green peppers and those that require complete cooking, such as pumpkin, squash, tomatoes and beets.

During the blanching process, high heat destroys enzymes that cause food to deteriorate and lose quality. It also destroys harmful bacteria, and removes objectionable odors and flavors in some vegetables. In addition, the green color brightens after blanching and vegetables pack easier.

The length of time that vegetables need to be scalded varies with the vegetable. Check your freezing chart for exact time.

Wrapping Meat For Freezing

Retain the high quality of fresh meat by wrapping it carefully before freezing. Air enters improperly wrapped packages and draws moisture from the meat. This "freezer burn" causes dry, less flavorful meat.

Vapor-proof your packages by wrapping meat in heavy aluminum foil or heavy freezer paper. This eliminates all possible air. Place a double thickness of waxed paper between chops or patties to prevent them from sticking together.

Summer Sources Of Vitamin C

Summertime produce offers many Vitamin C sources. All provide tasty changes from canned or frozen tomato and orange juice and are seasonally low priced. Since the body does not store Vitamin C, some is needed daily to cement cells together, strengthen blood vessels, and speed healing.

Best of these Vitamin C "summer sources"—one serving most daily needs—includes strawberries, cantaloupe, broccoli and sweet green or red pepper. Two servings of fresh pineapple, watermelon, cabbage or tomato will also meet the body's Vitamin C requirement.

Buying Apples

Fresh apricots are plentiful now. When buying apricots, select plump, juicy looking ones with a uniform, golden-orange color. Ripe apricots will yield to gentle pressure on the skin.

Sugar Syrup Best Freezer Pack For Peaches

A sugar syrup is better than a dry sugar pack when you prepare peaches for freezing. Experiments show that a 50 to 60 percent sugar syrup preserves texture, shape, color and flavor of peaches.

To make a 50 percent syrup, dissolve one cup of sugar in four-fifths cup of water. For a 60 percent syrup, use one cup of sugar in one-half cup of water. Stir or heat the syrup to dissolve the sugar. But be sure it is cold before you add the peaches.

Manuals Provide Valuable Information

You can get even greater use from your household equipment simply by reading the operating manuals. Appliances often remain underused because the owner hasn't discovered the variety of "extra" tasks they will perform. Such uses, as well as basic operating instructions, are usually covered—with step-by-step directions—in your manual.

Besides explaining new and different uses, the operating guides can help you reduce expensive service calls on your equipment. Often the manual provides a list of items you can check before calling for help. Many manuals also state warranty conditions so you will understand repair responsibilities if your appliance requires service.

Lovejoy Library Grows 634% in Use Since 1965

Circulation statistics from Lovejoy Library on the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus show a 634% increase in usage since the library opened in September, 1965. Items charged out in 1965-66 amounted to 47,766. That figure climbed to almost 341,000 last year. During the five year period enrollment has risen less than 200%.

During the past year the library catalogued 51,636 bound volumes and 91,135 microfilm, bringing its holdings to 483,706. Of which 59,210 are microfilm. This represents an increase in volumes of more than 100% since 1965.

In addition, Lovejoy subscribes 4,000 periodicals and has almost 400,000 documents, photograph records, tapes, maps, aerial photographs, music and other miscellaneous material.

When SIU-SW secured Shortleiff College for a residence center in 1967 the library contained an estimated 22,000 volumes. At East St. Louis, where the university opened another teaching center the same year, the library was entirely new.

"We did not have the benefit of a few years' grace in which to develop a basic book collection," Eugene Herscher, associate director of the library, recalls. "This resulted in a good deal of strain on both the teaching program and the library.

Certain basic books were loaned on more heavily than is usually the case. Students depended on Morris Library at Carbondale and libraries in the St. Louis metropolitan area. It took a number of years to begin to catch up with the library needs of students and faculty," Herscher says.

Until 1969 the library technical processes were handled primarily at Morris Library. The Alton and East St. Louis libraries were essentially public service operations and relatively independent of each other.

In 1959 the first steps were taken to ensure a unified library and to establish its own processing operations. A single library coordinator was appointed. Three professional librarians were hired to take over the processing responsibilities, among them Herscher.

The newly-dubbed "Central Library," a combined administrative-processing unit, moved in September to a farmhouse on Bluff road on the site of the campus-to-be. A shuttle service began operating that fall between the centers, making materials of both libraries readily available to users at both.

When the $2,700,000 Lovejoy Library, one of five initial buildings in the academic core, was opened in 1968 SIU-SW had, for the first time, 185,000 volumes ready for use under one roof at its new campus.

"At last students and faculty could see the results of their eight years of book selection," Herscher noted. "Few university libraries had assembled a collection of such size and quality in such a short time," he said.

Another measure of the library's growth, Herscher points out, is its use as a resource center. Today other libraries are borrowing from Lovejoy. During 1969-70 requests for library loans increased 30% over the previous fiscal year.

From farmhouse to Lovejoy, with its innovative carpeting and polarized lighting, is just an exciting facet of successful pioneering in education at SIU-SW," Herscher said.

'Jake Jones' to Play At 'Y' Teen Town Dance

The "Jake Jones" group will be featured at the opening fall Teen Town dance at the YMCA from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

The "Y" will sponsor dances every Saturday night throughout the fall season except on Sept. 18, when a Friday dance is scheduled. The "Serena Leigh" will play then. Regular admission of 75 cents for "Y" members and $1.25 for non-members will be charged.

GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS

BELLEVILLE
EAST ST. LOUIS

50 YEARS AGO

SEPTEMBER 10, 1920

The Illinois primary election to be held this month will include voting by women, due to the victory of the suffrage amendment. Thousands of Madison county women are expected to cast ballots; there will be separate ballots for them so that their votes can be counted separately from those of the men.

"Smiling Ed" Mercer of Granite City, genial former hot mill man, is favored to win the Republican nomination for corner of Madison county. This is the first time he has sought public office.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haxbeard, 2237 G street, entertained guests from Nashville, Mrs. William N. Nole, Miss Edith Nole, Mr. and Mrs. William Nole and daughter, Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Borchelt and family and Harry Nole.

Tax Protests Involve 'Red Tape'

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

You think your real estate or personal property taxes are getting out of hand, and you would like to file a protest? The fact that what's troubling you, three steps are as follows:

1. The taxing body must prepare a budget which estimates the assets and liabilities of each fund of the body as of the beginning of the fiscal year, as well as income it will receive from various sources and the expenditures which are anticipated.
2. The taxing body must prepare the money required to cover the anticipated expenditures and this appropriation usually must be published in a newspaper which has general circulation within the taxing district.
3. The taxing body must pass the levy which authorizes the levying of taxes against the property in the tax district. In order to pay his taxes under protest, the taxpayer must state his ground for objecting to the tax and the percentage of the tax which he claims should be refunded by filing his written objections with the Circuit Court of the county in which the property is located.

The fact that a real estate taxpayer feels that his taxes are "too high" is not one of the grounds of protest provided by law. Instead, the taxpayer must allege that certain procedures were not followed when the taxes for the year in question were appropriated and levied for his taxing district.

The taxpayer, by his protest, petitions for the refunding to him of his property share of the allegedly illegal tax.

Generally speaking, the law requires a three-step procedure in order for taxes to be protested.

No Need to Play World Series? Computers Could Decide Outcome

(Computer Age)

They are everywhere, those computers. In recent years they have crept into virtually every organized activity, from gambling, if you are good enough or rich enough to consider that a sport.

When a computer decided that Rocky Marciano was a better boxer than Cassius Clay, the race was on to match them from different sports eras.

The pinnacle in baseball is supposed to be reached Sept. 19 when "the greatest team of the last 50 years" is decided before the game of the Week. It's doubtful that the results will please all baseball fans everywhere.

On the other hand, baseball fans who love obscure facts have a new treasure trove of trivia, thanks to the computer. It's the recently published Baseball Encyclopedia, a massive collection of statistics that was put together with the help of a computer. The most infatigable fan will find enough statistics there to satisfy him.

Some fans work with computers, and periodically one of them comes up with a scheme to shuffle batting orders, test position systems, determine the best player trades, and generally help the manager. Most of the ideas are completely ignored by the manager.

Football managers are more receptive to the computer, especially the one that helps them analyze opposing teams.

Frank Ryan of the Washington Redskins, who has used computers in previous seasons, has come up with a computer plan called Proprobe. It is supposed to cut pre-game strategy research by a full day, leaving more time to work on play execution.

Ryan, a mathematician as well as a back-up quarterback, will offer the service to colleges and high schools but not to other pro teams. In 1969 he was at the Redskins, the late Vince Lombardi, was an executive in Ryan's computer company.

Long-Sought Governmental Reforms Are a Part of Proposed New State Constitution

One of the most pertinent questions during the writing of the proposed 1970 Illinois State Constitution has been whether it would truly represent reforms, real updating and improvement of the 1870 Constitution currently in effect.

Study of the 116 delegates' product is not yet complete but in many ways it clearly does offer modernization—elimination of things that should not be said and inclusion of points worthy of mention in the fundamental framework of state and local government and law in Illinois.

Examples are plentiful: The chief state education officer would be appointed rather than elected, and a state board of education would be created. A state election board would supervise administration of election laws throughout the state. Residency requirements for voting would be reduced.

A judicial inquiry board would have authority to receive, initiate and investigate complaints against judges. The new constitutional article would declare that maintenance of healthful surroundings is the right and duty of each person. After Jan. 1, 1972, an individual could enforce this right through legal proceedings regulated by the General Assembly.

The personal property tax would be abolished by 1979, with other steps taken to avoid a revenue loss to local taxing agencies. (Through a Nov. 3 referendum, the individual personal property tax is likely to be ended.) The General Assembly would be permitted to exempt food, drugs and clothing from the sales tax. Public transportation would be designated an essential service which the legislature could lawfully suspend.

A greater homerule would be exercised by cities, and counties could gain home rule by separating their executive and legislative process, creating an elective position of chief executive officer.

And, of extreme importance, there would be easier requirements for calling a constitutional convention and proposing and approving amendments to the constitution which had not functioned as well as had been intended.

Sites, Cultural and Educational Assets Make Area Ideal for Industrial Plants

The Illinois Metro East Corporation, regional industrial development group in the Illinois sector of the St. Louis metropolitan area, has made some pertinent comments in distributing its newly-completed directory of governmental officials.

The directory is one of a number of investigative projects and research studies expected to be finished by the corporation and published this year.

As the developers note, one "research reports do a number of things. One is that they attract attention from outsiders to our area. Investors are more likely to come more accurately evaluate potential investments here."

"If we can just begin to get people to accept the true nature of our area, growth should be considerably more rapid. Secondly, the name given to the area is a very important factor. We have a culturally backward area, as the report on the fine arts will tell, and we do have a number of developing institutions of higher education. We have, in addition, some very good sites for heavy industry."

"All in all," the industrial developers say, "the reports should begin emphasizing to us that we have a number of assets. We have a number of features about which we should be rather proud. Have you recently considered the promise of this region?"

An American Indian is said to have sent the following bit of wisdom to the President: "Be careful with your immigration laws. We were not with ours, and look what happened."

Environment, War, Drugs Bigger Issues to 18-Year-Olds Than Voting

By VIVIAN HUNTER University of Illinois State Reporting Project

"Passivity among the youth is what we need to worry about—not demonstrations," says Greg Embury, an 18-year-old delegate and others has been a talker with Illinois Con-Con. Embury, an 18-year-old delegate and others has been a talker with Illinois Con-Con.

He is a young man with a purpose; he intends to major in political science at the University of Illinois. But he gets as much enjoyment from tinkering with his old 1964 Opel (which he keeps in someone's) as he does from trying to convince legislators and voters that young people's concern over their current problems.

The questionnaire showed students at junior colleges. Mike Gask, a senior in psychology at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, is one of the more active members of the State Board of Higher Education. He said that students seem to be most interested in the more current issues—the environmental crisis, the war in Southeast Asia and the drug issue—only one of the 101 laws that lowering the voting age was first in importance.

A similar conclusion could be drawn from a visit in Chicago to the office of Project 18, one of the more active members of the State Board of Higher Education. He said that students seem to be most interested in the more current issues—the environmental crisis, the war in Southeast Asia and the drug issue—only one of the 101 laws that lowering the voting age was first in importance.

Proposed New State Constitution Contains Numerous Improvements

To the Editor: On Sept. 3, I completed one of the most interesting experiences of my life, that of being a delegate to the Sixth Illinois Constitutional Convention.

Now the biggest task of the convention begins: That of informing the people just what the work of the convention contains, and should we vote for it or against it.

We have provided the voters with five choices to make when they go to the polls Dec. 15.

The first choice will be to decide whether or not to adopt the proposed constitution. Let me say that with 116 delegates working on a document, you can be sure that it is a good one.

In May he received recognition for his work with youth in the community by the Young Life organization, an inter-denominational group sponsored by the First Assembly of God Church.

As a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Parsons was the first local resident to be elected president of that organization twice, and on the state level, he has served as vice-president and Illinois representative to the World Jaycees Congress in Puerto Rico.

Cosmetology Awards
He holds several awards in cosmetology, the scientific aspect of his profession. He has served as president of the Elite Hairdressers Association, Metro-East Hairdressers Association, and as an officer of the state group.

Parsons has been active in the community's theatrical presentations, both as an actor and writer-director. He has written and directed the annual Roca show for the past six years and performed in many Masquerade plays. He also has served as emcee for the Miss Granite City Pageant for the last 15 years.

The Roca club was founded at the YMCA where, at the time, there were five girls clubs and no boys clubs.

"The boys just stood around waiting for the girls," Parsons said. "I felt they needed to channel their energies and the best way to accomplish this task was Roca."

The original membership was composed of Parsons as advisor and 11 members. Whileaker, physical education instructor and assistant wrestling coach at GCHS, was elected as Roca's first president.

The club remained at the "YM" for three years as seven other boys clubs were formed. Striving to be independent, the club moved to the Moose Lodge in November, 1953, where they remain today.

Of the original eight clubs formed at the "YM," Roca is the only one remaining. The club cites high goals, strong purposes and a dedicated advisor for its success. Its purpose is to build strong, mature leaders for the future by delegating responsibility and teaching brotherhood and self pride.

About 500 young men have graduated from Roca in addition to a large number of sweethearts who are selected every season. Currently serving are Nancy Sternberg, fall, 1969; Betsy Hayes, winter, 1969; Connie Murray, spring, 1970; and Judy Morris, summer, 1970. They serve as hostesses at all Roca activities.

The club has proved its ability to support itself through various projects, including their dinner show. It started six years ago and has become a tradition among its members.

The club also encourages its members to aid local charitable groups. In the past they have collected for the Heart Fund, Salvation Army, and on Oct. 45, they will entertain for the United Fun Fair.

College Demos Urge Students to Register

The College Democrats of Illinois are spearheading the first drive in Illinois history to register 65,000 students to vote in the Nov. 3 election. College Democrats of Illinois President Roger Senesac of Manteno said today.

According to Senesac, there are 65,000 students at nine colleges and universities in Illinois who are 21 years old or over, but who have not registered to vote.

Senesac and Thomas Pruitt, Vice-President of the College Democrats from Milford, whom Senesac named to direct the campus voters' registration drive, said the College Democrats of Illinois will facilitate the registration and absentee voting of students.

The C.D.I. said it is directing its efforts at these campuses: University of Illinois, Southern Illinois University, Illinois State University, Northern Illinois University, Western Illinois University, Knox College, Quincy College, Augustana College and Millikin University. Each has an active chapter of College Democrats.

Pruitt said that the names and addresses of students at the nine colleges and universities, who are 21 years old but who have not registered to vote, were turned over to Democratic county chairmen over the Labor Day weekend.

The College Democrats will make a follow-up survey to determine that those who are unregistered were contacted. Senesac said that "at this time, the College Democrats plan to provide a notary public at each campus to facilitate absentee voting between Oct. 5 and Oct. 29. Voters can register for this years election through Oct. 5."

Senesac and Pruitt, both students at Illinois State University, said that students will not be asked their political or candidate preference when they are contacted to register to vote.

They added: "At a time when tension exists on our campuses, we think that the vote represents the best possible means of expressing our feelings on important issues."

Our form of government is only as good as the people we elect, and those students—young or old—eligible to vote, but not exercising that prerogative, have little right to be indignant or self-righteous."

Top Achievement Award To Junior Krafts Company

Junior Krafts, an A. O. Smith Corp.-sponsored Junior Achievement company, has received a "top achievement" award in regional competition.

The award was earned in competition with 267 Junior Achievement companies vying in the Mississippi Valley area.

Winners in the area were sent to the midwestern region, which includes six midwestern states. Only six companies received the "top achievement" award in the regional competition.

Junior Krafts, manufacturer of metal stilt, won first place in steel products for the Mississippi Valley prior to entering the midwestern regional competition. The J.A. company manufactured and sold over 235 pair of stilt, described by officials as one of the most unique products in the region.

Junior Krafts was sponsored by the local A. O. Smith plant and the advisors were Del Frsch, coordinating advisor, and Bob Weston, Ron Corey, Ed Ford, John Klee, Willie Sharp, Vince Bunyan and Lena Weston.

Scott Endorses Constitution, Urges Approval

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott this week became the first state official to strongly endorse the proposed new state Constitution.

Scott urged Illinois voters to vote "yes" on the main body of the document.

Scott also praised the delegates for a job well done and Convention Chairman Samuel W. Wither for his leadership, and for giving the people the right to choose on two controversial issues: appointment or election of judges, and multiple or single-member Illinois House districts.

Environmental Clause
Scott singled out one of the important constitutional changes for the betterment of state government, the modernization of the Bill of Rights, including, for the first time, an environmental protection clause.

Attorney General Scott said he would have preferred to see the personal property tax abolished immediately rather than in 1979. However, he supports the over-all improvements in the revenue article.

The Attorney General said he is writing to Victor Smith, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee to urge the Republican Party to give its support to the new Constitution.

Driving Uninsured Car Involves Many Risks

It can prove to be poor economy to own an uninsured automobile, because more risks are involved than many motorists realize.

If the uninsured car is involved in an accident, the result could be that the owner would be required, under the Safety Responsibility Law, to surrender the license plates issued for that car and any others he may own, even though the other cars were insured at the time of the accident.

Secretary of State Paul Powell pointed out today that the S-R Law requires the suspension of the operating privilege of the driver and the registration privilege of the owner when compliance with the law is not established following an accident in which there is death, personal injury or property damage of $100 or more. No discretionary authority allowing the Secretary of State to waive these requirements is contained in the law.

Mr. Powell gave this as an example of what could happen.

A man owns three cars, one for himself, one for his wife and one for his son, and has all three cars registered in his own name. He carries insurance on his car and his wife's, but not on his son's.

Accident Involves Liability
The son, driving the uninsured car, is involved in a serious property damage accident, and the Division of Highways of the Department of Public Works and Buildings determines that the damages amount to $5,000.

The law requires the deposit of security in the amount of the damages in the form of cash, a surety bond or bank money order, or that the other persons involved in the accident sign releases relieving the father and son of any liability. If those other persons refuse to sign releases and neither the father nor the son can deposit the required security, the son's driving privileges and the license plates for all cars registered in his name. The law does not exempt his other two cars from that requirement, even though they were insured.

This means that the father no longer has the privilege of registering a motor vehicle, and

Advisory Board For Engineers Sought in Bill

Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Illinois) has introduced a bill to create an Environmental Advisory Board for the Army Corps of Engineers. The board would submit an environmental recommendation on every Corps project before any construction was begun or any permit issued.

"The Army Corps of Engineers has been continually under fire," Percy said. "The Corps is charged with the responsibility of developing, maintaining and improving our waterways. However, time and time again, it has been accused of not giving proper consideration to preserving our environment."

"It is inexcusable for branches of the federal government to be working at cross purposes," Percy said. "Concern for our environment has become a national concern. The government is now devoting a great deal of time and money and consideration to environment. The Corps of Engineers shares the responsibility for the environment with the rest of us, and they should have some mechanism whereby we can have assurance that they are doing just that."

Creates Advisory Board
Percy's bill would create a 6-man advisory board to be chosen by the Secretary of the Army from a list of candidates submitted by the President's Council on Environmental Quality. The board would make recommendations based on the environmental considerations before any Corps project was begun by the Corps. If the Corps decided to act contrary to the recommendations of the board, the ultimate decision would be made by the Secretary of Defense.

Percy said that while there was an ex-officio Environmental Advisory Board of the Corps, it had been created in response to the criticism it has received, and it is not effective as presently constituted.

"The legislation I have introduced will, for the first time, provide a structure to insure that the appropriate environmental factors are weighed in all projects proposed to be undertaken by the Corps."

The idea behind this board is long overdue. In order to protect the environment, and in order to assist the Corps to carry out its full responsibilities, this legislation deserves the immediate and favorable consideration of the Congress.

Safety measures were initiated at St. Elizabeth Hospital as Phase II of a tornado procedure exercise was activated in conjunction with a monthly test sounding of Granite City's warning sirens. Venice Bridge Traffic Volume Stabilizing

The McKinley Bridge, owned by the city of Venice, is in good physical condition and its traffic and income outlook are stabilizing, an annual inspection of the Mississippi River toll bridge discloses.

The inspection report, prepared by Hardisty & Hanover, New York consulting engineering firm, was accepted this month by the Venice city council. Copies are being sent to the city of St. Louis and to Illinois Governor Richard B. Ogilvie.

A field inspection in May showed the bridge is in a satisfactory state of repair and that traffic is being handled expeditiously.

Improvements and repairs completed since the previous yearly report were repairs to aging partner of Hardisty & Hanover, related that, "as noted in the 1968 report, the opening of the nearby Poplar Street Bridge, carrying Interstate Routes 35 and 70 over the Mississippi River, has caused a pronounced reduction in traffic on the McKinley toll bridge."

Slower Rate of Decrease
"The bridge tolls were increased in October 1968 to offset to some extent the loss in revenue resulting from the loss of traffic. However, traffic and revenue dropped still further after the raise in tolls."

"At this time, a slight progressive decrease in traffic and revenue is still evident, but indications are that conditions are stabilizing."

It is estimated that it would cost $36,444,542 today to replace the bridge. With this in mind, property damage insurance coverage has been raised from $25 million to $31 million to exceed 80% of the valuation.

Appliances Can Ease Numerous Household Tasks

How'd you like to have 64 men doing your household tasks eight hours a day?

In effect, you do. The appliances owned by the average American household expend 512 man-hours' worth of energy every single day.

With a substantial investment in these "workers," it pays to keep them healthy. There are a number of money-saving tips to help you invest wisely at the start, and then keep repair and replacement costs to a minimum. Here are some of them.

Be sure your appliance will do the job you want it to do—but no more. A 12-cup coffee-maker may look grand in your kitchen, but does your family of four really need it? And that double oven in the stove you're thinking of buying may be a great temptation—but how often will you require more than one oven?

Read the manual that comes with your appliance. Keep it handy for future reference. And follow its instruction carefully. Don't, for example, load ten pounds of clothing in a dryer that the manual says will only take eight.

And speaking of loading, be sure to load the silver basket of your dishwasher carefully; a knife or spoon that flips out in the mid-cycle can jam the machine and may burn out the motor.

To save money on electric bills, invest in a single outdoor thermometer. Place it in the center of a middle or upper shelf, away from any contact with metal. Leave it overnight and check it in the morning. Most efficient levels: 37 degrees Fahrenheit for refrigerator, zero degrees for freezer.

Keep your refrigerator and freezer away from "hot spots" such as stoves, radiators and direct sunlight. Make sure their doors shut tight. To test, feel along the door edge: If cool air is escaping, you may need a new rubber gasket.

If an appliance breaks down, don't tinker with it. But before calling a $10-an-hour repairman, do be sure the gadget is plugged in, the power is on, the filters are clean and the controls are set. Almost 40% of the calls made by repairmen can be avoided by making these checks.

Finally, if repairs are needed, don't wait too long. A small problem is easier—and cheaper—to fix than a big one. And when maintenance jobs are put off too long, you may have to replace instead of repair.

The cheap insurance policy. Is it worth it?

Not if cheap insurance means anything less than full protection.

It may surprise you to learn that there are some very real differences among the policies that various fire and casualty companies offer.

How can you take advantage of them, though, when you don't know what they are?

An independent insurance agent knows. He'll go over your coverage with you. Weigh it in the light of your wants and budget. Compare it with other policies on the market.

An independent agent can do this because he represents several fire insurance companies offering a range of policies for your car, home or business.

Where can you find this trained professional, and what do his services cost? Look for his Big "I" symbol. The advice and recommendations of an independent agent are free, and obligate you in no way.

See him soon. Paying it off costs you more than a cut-rate policy can save you in a lifetime.

Action Taken in 5 Zoning Cases, 3 Are Approved

Petitions for three special use permits or zoning changes were approved and two were denied by the Madison county board of supervisors last week when the board reversed one recommendation of the county zoning board of appeals. The reversal came on a motion by Harry Briggs, Nameoki township supervisor, to approve the petition of Herman Wenos for a variance in set back and area requirements in a B-4 wholesale business district, on condition that off-street parking be provided for his business. Other petitions for mobile homes approved were those of Leo W. Stengel, owner, in an agricultural district of Chouteau township for the duration of the lifetime of Mr. and Mrs. Stengel, and Dennis W. and Dorothy A. Malear, owners, and Anna Dunham, occupant of a mobile home, in an R-4 single-family residence district of Chouteau township for the duration of the lifetime of Anna Dunham and for her use only. Petitions denied were those of:

Buel Pierce, owner, for a special use permit for a duplex in an R-4 single-family residence district in Nameoki township. Glenn Vatterott owner, for a special use permit to operate a landfill, sanitary landfill or dump in an M-3 heavy industrial district of Chouteau township. Auto Windows Shot Tommy Jackson, 1912 Beckwith street, Madison, told police at 1 p.m. Tuesday that someone shot two holes through the driver's side window and one through a right window of his car while it was parked overnight at his home. Announce Arrival Of Daughter Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bubblemasters Outing Attracts 100 Divers
Concluding a busy Labor Day weekend activity schedule, the Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club of Granite City met Tuesday evening at the local YMCA to view a series of colored slides and prepare plans for future events. Dr. Chris Geroff, club president, announced a total of 100 divers and their families participated in the annual Labor Day dive and contests, held last weekend at Bull Shoals Lake, Mo. This year's dive was sponsored by the Bubblemasters group, with divers from other area clubs, including the Alton Masketeers taking part. In a treasure hunt contest, Mike Lannan of the local club, won first place and received an air tank. Top prize-winner in an annual spearfishing contest between the Granite City divers and Alton club members was Joe Clark of the Alton Masketeers, who speared a nine-pound, two-ounce carp to win a diving regulator. Clark's victory also insures the Bubblemasters serving as hosts next spring for a fish fry honoring Alton divers and their families. The inter-club competition was initiated several years ago, with Bubblemaster members excelling Alton divers on most recent Labor Day dives. In Tuesday night's business meeting, it was agreed to sponsor a "Dunkin' Booth" at the "Charity Days Festival," scheduled for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 17-19 at Nameoki Village shopping center. To conclude the program, Bill Saunders, a Bubblemaster member, showed slides of his recent trip to the Bahamas Islands.

The fall schedule for the YMCA was announced today with a full schedule of activities ranging from a fitness class to lifesaving instruction.

A fitness class for adult women and high school girls will be instructed by Betty Harmon. The class, which will cost $1.25 per session or may be taken under a $30 yearly Teen Town membership, will utilize the facilities and exercise equipment in the women's health club.

A dance class for girls, ages four and up, will include ballet, tap and acrobatic instruction. The class will start in late September but registration is now open.

Judo classes for beginners and intermediates will be held on Saturday morning in the fall with beginners meeting at 9 a.m. and intermediates scheduled for 10:30 a.m.

Gymnastic Class

Gymnastics lessons will be offered with a youth and beginners class at 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and an advanced and high school class at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesdays.

In the pool, a complete line-up of classes is scheduled including paddler, tadpole, minnow, fish, flying fish, shark and porpoise classes, junior and senior lifesaving classes and a scuba class.

Recreational swimming will be continued for both members and non-members this fall.

High school recreational swimming will be from 9 to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights; 7 to 8 p.m. on Friday and 2 to 3 p.m. on Saturdays. Family swims will be from 7 to 8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday nights and from 1 to 2 p.m. Saturdays. Swimming instructions for men, girls, mother-tot groups and mother-infant groups also will be conducted.

Popular school year activities will get underway again this fall including the teenage dances every Saturday night, the Hi-Y Club and the Tri-Hi-Y Club.

A YMCA soccer team will be active this fall for those over six years of age. A swim team also is being formed.

Special projects planned by the Y this fall include three-day canoe trips for high school students Sept. 11-13 and Sept. 18-20, and an Indian Guide Pow-Wow for first and second grade students.

Many adult programs are also being planned.

Registration is now underway for these and other YMCA programs. Further information may be obtained by calling the Youth Office at 874-7230.

Parents Told of New SIU Discipline Plan

Faculty and administrative representatives from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale are winding up a series of statewide meetings to tell parents what SIU is doing to avert campus disorders in the future.

Teams of SIU speakers will have visited 34 different communities from Waukegan to Metropolis by the end of the meeting series.

In essence, they have told parents that SIU is going to place renewed emphasis on quality teaching for undergraduates, and will make it harder for students to regain good standing or re-admission after being suspended for disciplinary or academic reasons. A "Crisis Management Committee" is being established to set up guidelines for dealing with campus unrest.

The teams have included volunteers from all academic ranks. At least two deans have been involved and so has Robert McGrath, university registrar.

Typical Meeting

Many of the teams said meetings fell into three phases: an opening period of sharp, often critical questioning by parents; a period of "attentive listening" to SIU's plans for positive steps; and a concluding expression of thanks for the chance to talk directly to SIU representatives.

Estimates are that 3500 persons will have attended all the meetings. They were set up by the SIU chancellor's office and for handling disciplinary cases parent meetings began, said a similar series is planned next set up to help parents about "process" considerations.

In addition to tightened standards for the continuing and re-entering students, the teams told parents that prospective transfers in disciplinary trouble at other schools "would not be considered for admission to SIU."

Dr. Willis Malone, acting chancellor at the time the spring term.
